

Did You Know?

What platform was the Mustang I concept car built on?

The Mustang I prototype was initially built upon the Cardinal which was a Ford concept car built in Germany.

The Shelby GT-350 had all the power but lacked air, automatic, and other power-robbing options.

What was the 64 ½ Mustang based on?

The 64 ½ was based on the Falcon platform.

The High Country Special was limited to the Aspen Gold, Timberline Green and Columbine Blue exterior color schemes.

What part in the electrical system differentiates an early 1965 Mustang from a late 1965 model?

The early 65 Mustangs had a generator and the late 65 models had an alternator.

The High Country Special was a way to salute the state of Colorado for purchasing Mustangs in record numbers.

What is another name for the Fastback?

The Fastback is also known as the 2+2.